Foreword

Someone once said, "Time is a commodity of which no high school student ever seems to have enough." We all know how true this can be. Yet there are so many things to be accomplished during a year of high school. They may be individual accomplishments or they may require a group effort. They may be very special and important, or they may be just everyday tasks. But someone finds the time to make each effort, because there is "a time for every purpose."

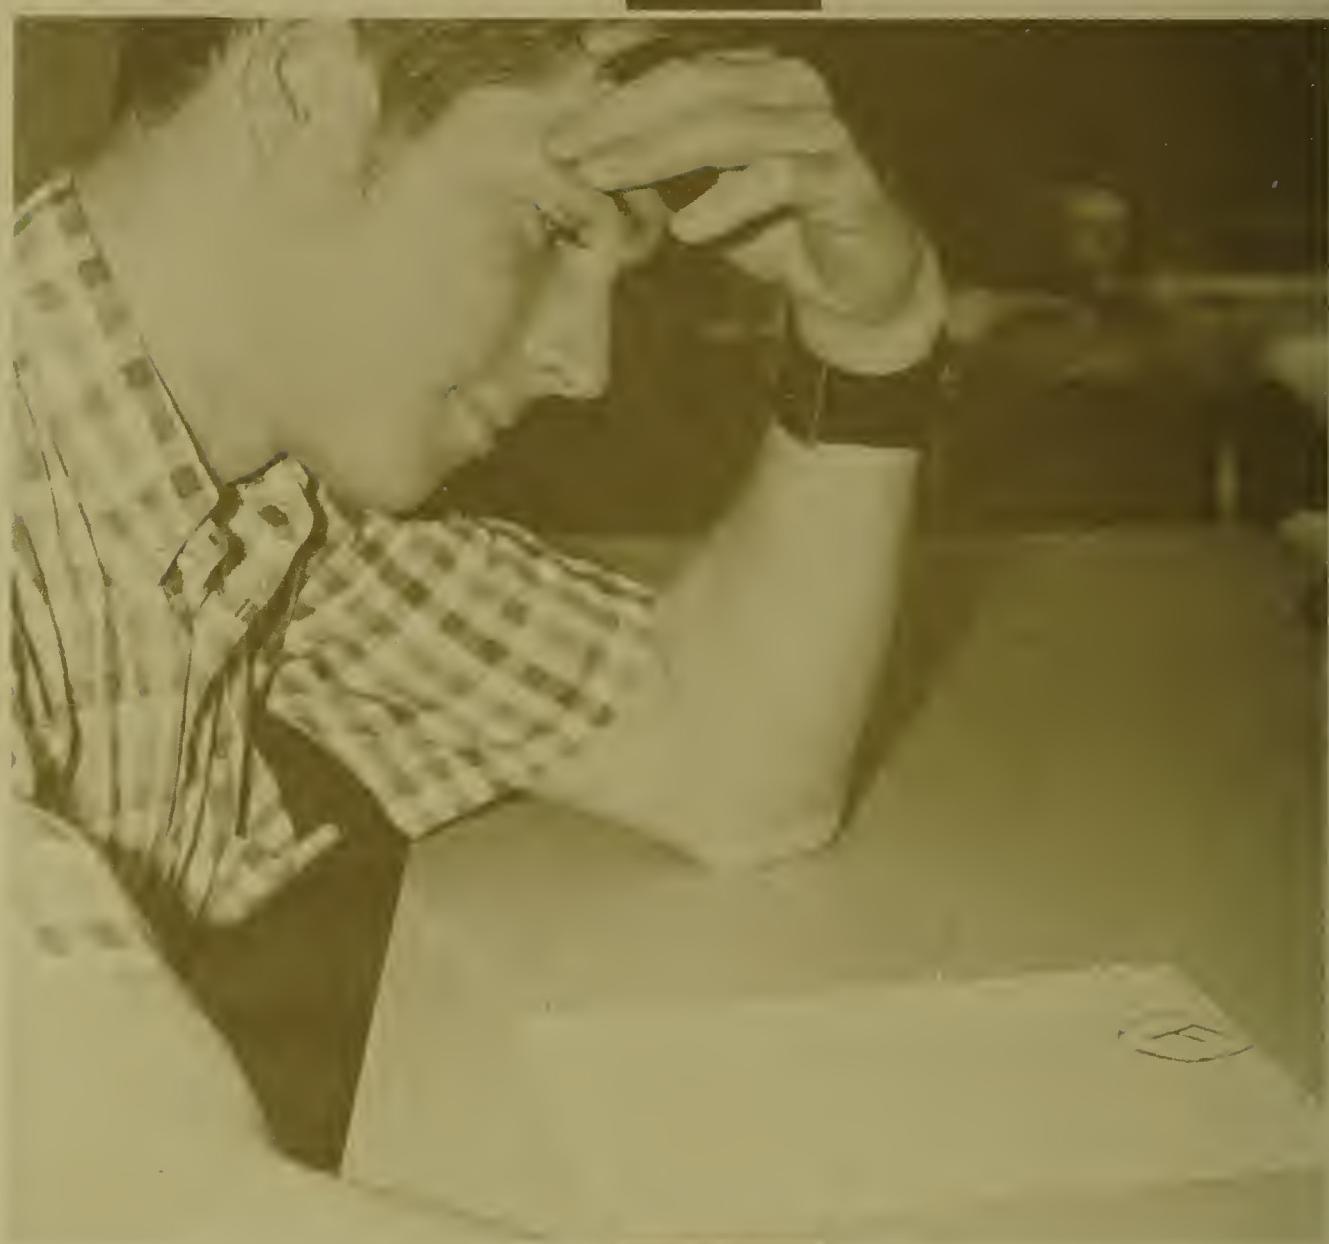

This book is a tribute to all those who have given their time for the purpose of making 1970 a year of success at Medina High School.

A time to break down,
A time to build up,
A time to kill,
A time to heal,
A time to embrace,
A time to refrain from embracing.

A time for war,
A time for peace,
A time to mourn,
A time to dance.

A time to weep,
A time to laugh,
A time to mend,
A time to sew.

A time to seek,
A time to lose:
To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.

Faculty and Academics

Administration Is Enlarged

This year's administration has been expanded in order that administrative duties may be spread more widely and carried out more efficiently. The addition of a Dean of Students and a teacher in charge of attendance has enlarged the staff and allowed the principal, especially, to give more attention to his primary tasks.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Seated: Robert A. Hedrick, Ralph Waite, and Miss F. C. Veverka. Standing: Calvin Wible, Leonard Morse, Robert Smith, and E. W. P. Smith. As of January 1, Hank Jaeger will replace Miss Vaverka on the school board.

Did you ever receive service with a smile from one of our office secretaries? Did you ever appreciate a good lunch around fifth period? Did you wonder how the halls could be such a mess at the end of a school day, yet be bright and clean the next morning? These, and others, are things many students take for granted, because our staff of secretaries, cooks, maintenance people, and others do such an excellent job.

The attendance supervisor and the athletic director, actually part of the administration, also aid in the smooth operation of the school.

PSYCHOLOGICAL STAFF: Mrs. Larson, Psychologist — M.A. Akron University, B.S. Bus. Ed. University of Miami, Florida. Mrs. Rickard, Secretary. Mr. Shuman, Intern Psychologist — B.S. Ed. Kent State. Mrs. Konneker, Psychologist, B.S. Ed. Ohio State University, M.A. Kent State.

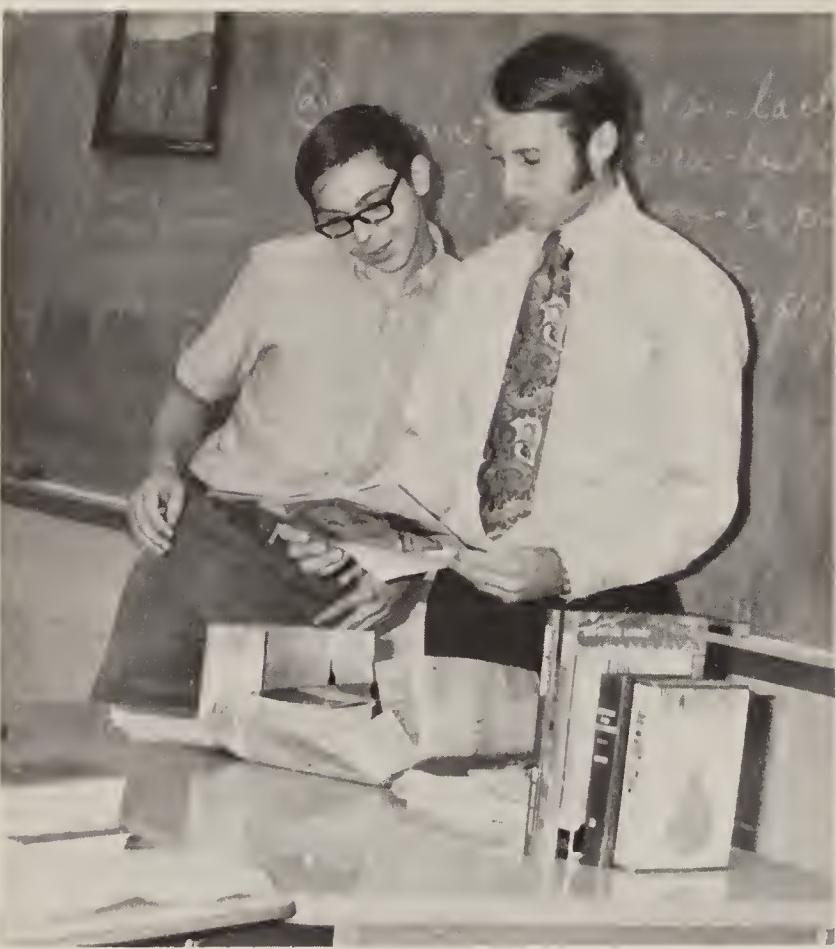

MAINTENANCE: Frank Fesco, Alverta Shelton, Roy Haas, Charles Jacot, and Tom Leister.

LIBRARIANS: Mrs. Hubbard, B.A. Ohio Wesleyan, B.S. in Library Science Western Reserve — Mrs. Penn — Mrs. Wolfe, M.S. in Library Science, Case Western Reserve.

Mr. Shamp, the Beau Brummel of MHS, and Glenn Rozell seem to be looking at a very interesting magazine.

See Mr. Elrick. See Mr. Elrick laugh. He is thinking about the test he is about to give his senior English students. Funny Mr. Elrick!

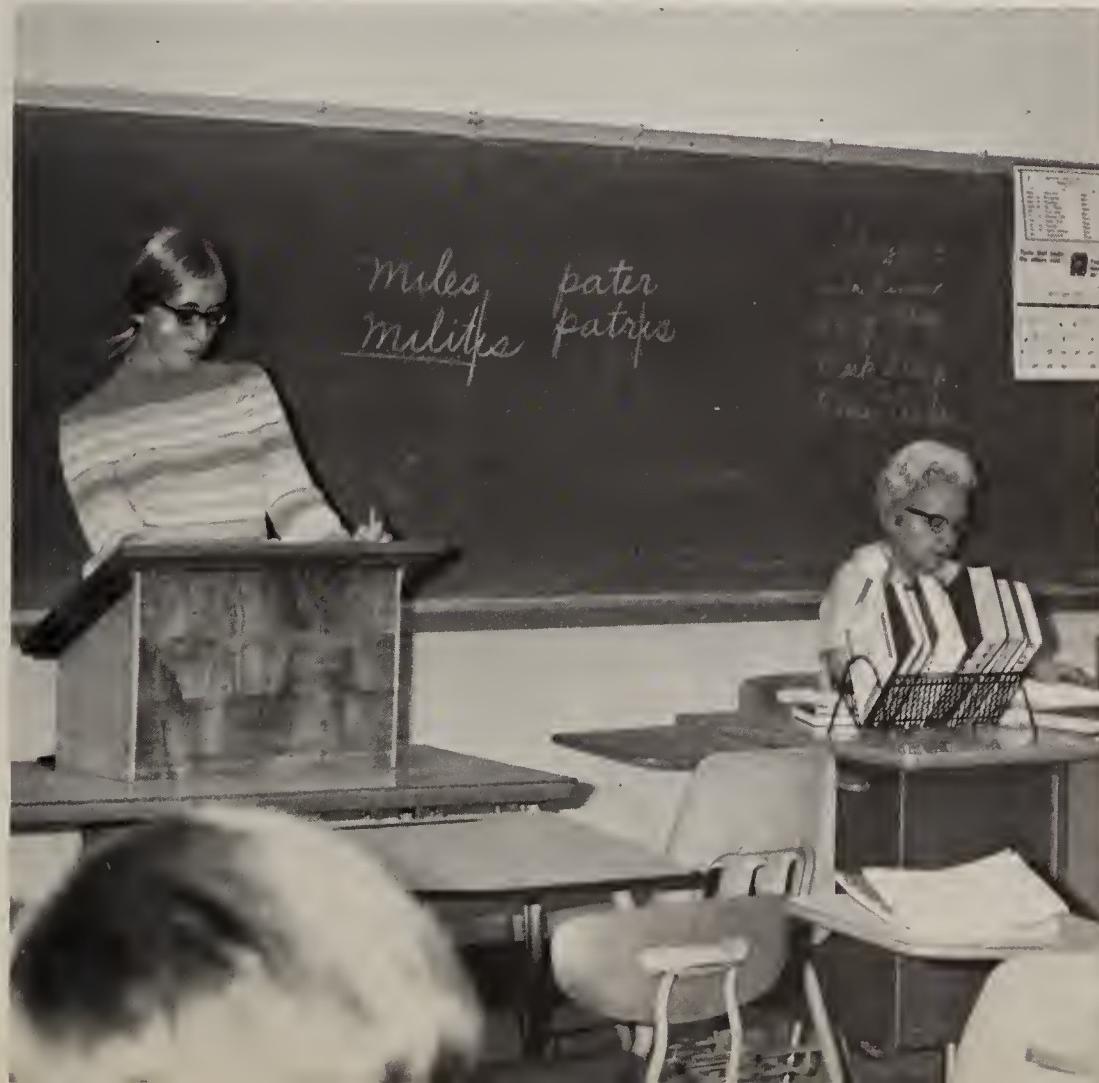

The annual Book Fair draws everyone's interest by offering a great variety of books at low prices.

English Department

Row 1: Mr. Bosler, Mr. Elrick, Mr. Shamp, and Mr. Holden. Row 2: Mrs. Elrick, Miss Kitska, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Stahnke, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Neptune, and Mrs. Heiges.

The English Department received a lift this year from the purchase of new composition books for freshmen and sophomores and new literature books for juniors and seniors. Variety, an important part of an English course, was represented by both faculty and curriculum.

Left: Carol Poor adds a few last minute notes to her report as Mrs. Heiges opens her grade-book.

Mathematics Department

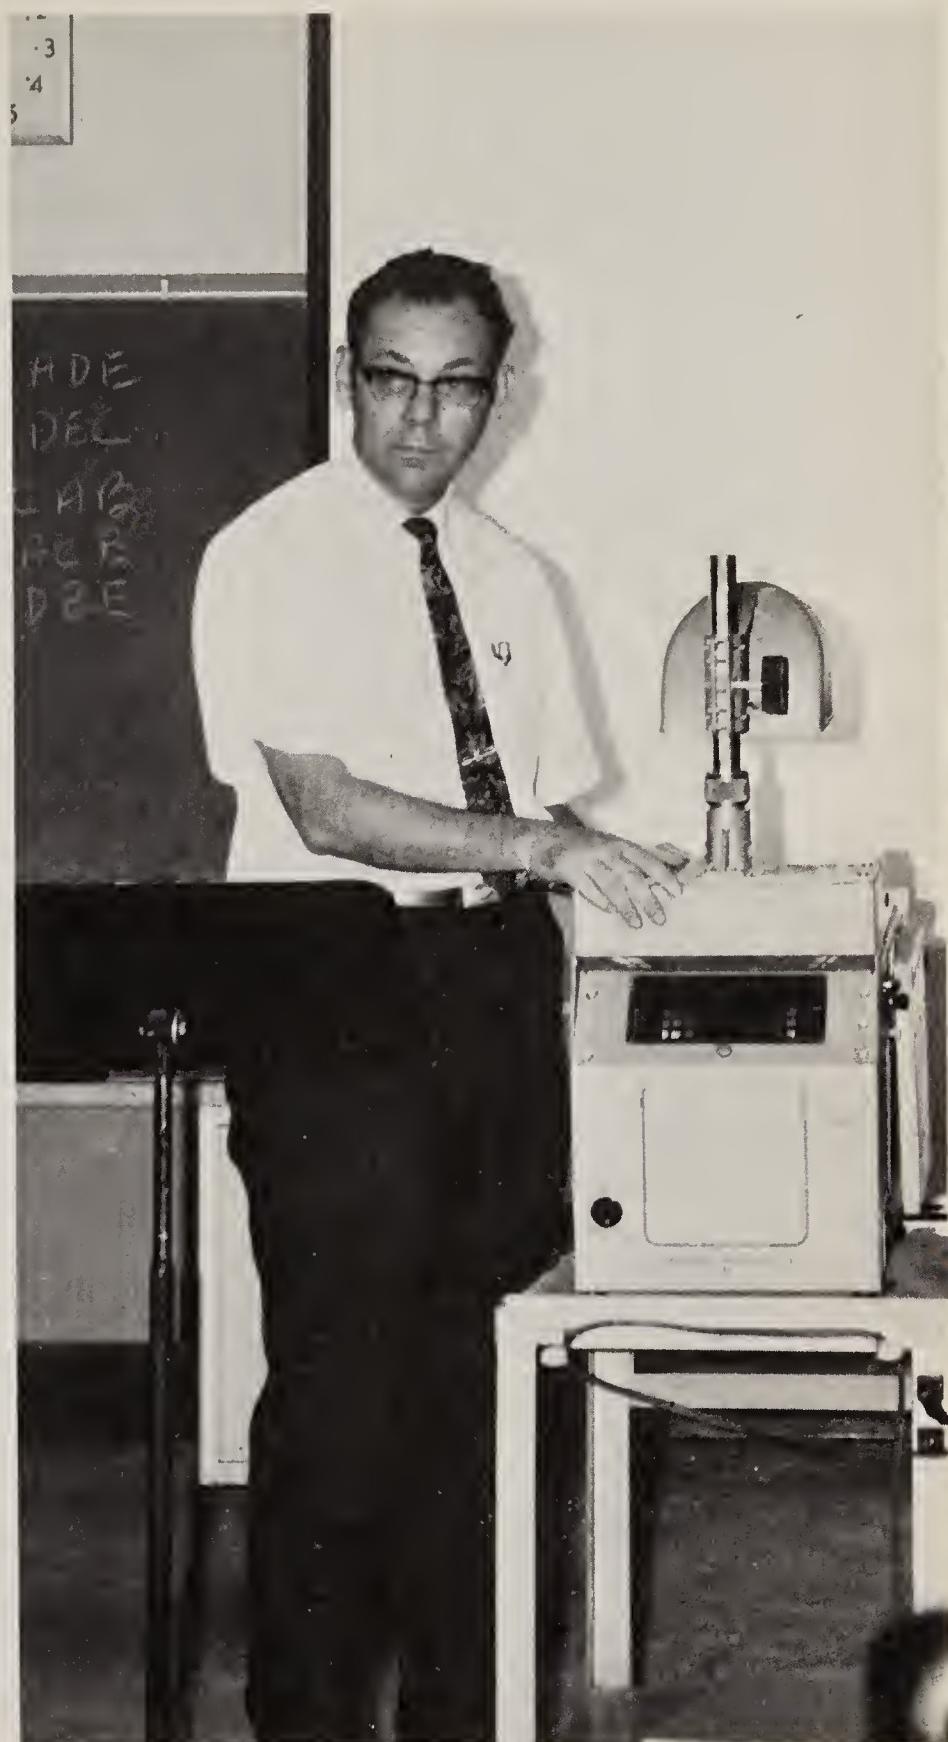

Mr. Brewer, Mr. Paidas, Mr. Insprucker, Mrs. Whitman, Miss Cross, Mr. Minick, and Mr. Haas.

Courses in mathematics at MHS range from the practical to the abstract. The non-college-bound student can take general math, which teaches him practical usage of numbers at home or in business. Courses for college-bound students include algebra and geometry, after which honors students can continue with pre-calculus and calculus.

Two innovations in the math department were introduced this year. One was an ungraded math course, a practical course in which students can progress at their own speed. The other was computer training for academic credit.

Mrs. Whitman points out a problem to a geometry class.

Lower above: Mr. Minick "takes ten" from grading tests.

Above right: Mr. George says, "You mean all you wanted was to take my picture?"

Right: Come now, Mr. Weygandt, what's funny about a person's health?

Social Studies Department

Row 1: Mrs. Demuth and Miss Huddle. Row 2: Mr. George, Mr. Dailey, Mr. Piarski, and Mr. Butler. Absent when picture was taken: Mr. Weygandt.

All eyes are on Mrs. Demuth as she leads a class discussion in American history.

Courses in the social studies department are designed to prepare the student for useful living beyond high school. American history, world history, civics, and economics teach him to be a knowledgeable American and world citizen through understanding of the past, present, and future of the system under which he lives. Psychology, sociology, and health teach him to understand and appreciate himself and others.

The curriculum in the science department is chosen to give the student a wide sampling of many scientific disciplines. In ninth grade, every student is required to take physical science, a basic survey course. In succeeding grades, he can elect to take biology, chemistry, and physics. Each of these courses gives basic information and includes experimental work in the laboratory. BSCS and Chem Study are also offered for the above-average science student.

Right: Mr. Swinglish oversees an experiment being carried out in freshman science by Scott Harpster and George Downey.

Below: We know that Mr. Graham is occasionally absent-minded, but why is he pointing to a blank screen? Maybe he sees something we don't!

Science Department

Biology teacher Mr. Walker looks on as Paul Baisden completes a chart.

"Now you divide this by that, multiply, then add x degrees. Simple . . . You mean you don't understand?" says Mr. Alexander.

Mr. Graham,
Mr. Ware,
Mr. Walker,
Mr. Robson,
Mr. Alexander,
Mr. Swinglish.

Language Department

Mrs. Zimmerman, Mr. Baker, Miss Grund, Mr. Millor, Miss Kitska, and Mr. Evans. Absent when picture was taken: Mrs. Kellogg.

In our time of ever-improving transportation and communication, it is becoming increasingly essential to have at least a working knowledge of a second language. Many students realize this and elect to study a language. At Medina the student has a choice of Latin, French, German, or Spanish. Latin is offered for two years, French and German for four each, and Spanish for five, including an advanced placement course.

Mrs. Kellogg corrects sentences which her Latin students have written on the board.

Mr. Millor's Spanish class listens attentively (?) as he explains a sentence.

Industrial Arts Department

The industrial arts department is one of the most diversified in the school. It offers a variety of courses ranging from the basic to the very technical. Printing, drawing, electricity, wood, and metals — courses in all these media are offered to the mechanically-minded person.

Mr. Wells, Mr. Hathaway, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Phillips, Mrs. Jividen, Mr. Cheuvront, Mrs. Toth, Mr. O'Conner, Mrs. Schafer, Mr. Calich, and Mr. Holdener. Absent when picture was taken: Miss Hornberger

The vocational department is one of the fastest growing departments at MHS, both in size and importance. The newest program is OWE (Occupational Work Experience) which joins the already established programs of DE, DCT, COE, and Work Study. These programs benefit the student who does not plan to attend college by giving him salable skills to offer the business or industrial world after graduation.

Closely connected with the vocational department is the business department. COE was joined this year by BOE (Business Office Education), an intensive business program for juniors. Other general business courses are offered.

Vocational and Business Department

Mr. O'Connor gives Al Gager a pointer as Paul Abromaska and Tom DeGenero look on.

The Fine Arts Department at MHS includes many areas. Development of mind, body, and spirit are equally important, so fine arts includes art, music, physical education, and humanities courses. In the field of art, courses offered are crafts, painting, and general art. Band, choir, and music appreciation satisfy the music lover, while humanities offers a sampling of all of these. Gym courses are phys ed and gymnastics.

Above right: Our own Lawrence Welk swings the choir into another number with, "A one . . . a two . . . a three." (It's really Mr. Carey.)

Right: Medina's special education class constitutes a department in itself. Teachers Mrs. Starr and Mrs. Streett do a fine job helping students in this class to learn at their own speed and to achieve their greatest possible potential.

Fine Arts Department

Left: Miss Lawrence, Girl's Physical Education.

Mr. Heyburn, Mr. Holden, Mr. Mahew, Mrs. Rasmussen, Mr. Evans, and Mr. Bixler. Absent when picture was taken: Mr. Carey.

Seniors

Bonnie Meyers — Treasurer, Larry Collins — Vice-President, Terri Tippett — Secretary, and Tim Holston — President.

Seniors — that magic word. It makes us the leaders of the school, that privileged group whose position we envied for three years. It brings an increased class unity; we know we may never see some of our classmates again, so we must get to know them while we have the opportunity. It brings a feeling of individual pride too: a pride in having grown in four years from a giggling Freshman to a poised, confident Senior.

The word Senior also brings mixed emotions: anticipation of the future and nostalgia for the past. Each Senior has his own memories of high school and some memories are shared by many. Like the locker room after a game . . . Pep Club painting signs . . . building a float until 1:30 a.m. . . . Homecoming victories . . . trying to translate Middle English . . . Powder Puff football in a sea of mud . . . leaving school early to go to work . . . Mr. Dailey's Army stories and Mr. Butler's "no-no's" . . .

With these memories and many more in mind, we will go out the doors of MHS, as Seniors, for the last time.

Experience told the story as the seniors won the 1969 Homecoming float competition. Having learned a few lessons in style and structure from last year's contest, the seniors put together their winner in a short and hectic three weeks. Based on the theme of the 1969 moon landing, the float (shown above) depicted a landing module on a lunar landscape, with one "Space Bee" descending the ladder and another planting the flag of the Class of '70.

One of the most successful senior class projects of the year was the sponsorship and organization of a Powder Puff football game. Players were recruited from among the senior girls, and senior varsity gridders served as coaches. After many grueling practices, the "Little Stingers" were ready to meet the Cloverleaf Fillies. As luck had it, it rained the entire day of the game. However, with that rare combination of intestinal fortitude and a winning attitude, the girls slipped, slid and slopped their way through the rain and mud on their way to a 28-20 victory. The offensive team is pictured opposite and the defense is above.

Kneeling: S. Dague, D. Schaefer, P. Elliott, and P. Stambaugh. Standing: L. Wilson, R. Forsythe, K. Foulke, C. Eaken, and M. Szafranski.

Juniors Pass the Halfway Mark

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Treasurer, R. Wallace; Secretary, M. Roshon; Vice-President, H. Kahn; and President, J. Burke.

Junior year marks the "beginning of the end" of a high school career, as the student gains upper-class status and begins his final two years. Junior year means full participation in school activities, as the class enters into float competition and takes responsibility for the prom, and as junior athletes become varsity players. As juniors, the Class of '71 found itself in a position of true leadership for the first time, and they have carried out their responsibilities well.

The Noble Nature

By Ben Jonson

It is not growing like a tree
In bulk, doth make man better be;
Or standing long an oak, three hundred year
To fall a log at last, dry, bald, and sere:
 A lily of a day
 Is fairer far in May;
Although it fall and die that night,
 It was the plant and flower of light.
In small proportions we just beauties see,
And in short measures life may perfect be.

Sophomores Swing in Their

Sophomore year in high school is an in-between time. A soph is in between the newness of a freshman and the "established" feeling of an upperclassman. A soph is in between the young, carefree feeling and the look-ahead worries. Most of all, a soph is in between the position of being led and being a leader.

Nonetheless, our sophomores have gotten into the swing of things in their second year. Medina's class of 1972 has found its place, and its members are in the process of finding themselves.

Freshman Year — A Big Step

One's freshman year in high school is always exciting. Everything seems bigger than at the junior high: the halls are wider, the rooms are bigger, the seniors are taller, and the textbooks are fatter. Yet each freshman feels that he too has grown somehow by taking that step to a larger school; and that by participating in the life of that school, he will continue to grow. Medina's Class of 1974 has demonstrated that participation and growth during 1970.

Only Inches Away From Everything.

1969 was a triumphant season for the Battling Bees football team, which established the best won-lost record since 1966 and only the second winning season since 1962. This season saw the Bees finish second in the SWC race, losing the title to Bay Village by the now infamous "six-inches."

The key to the season, according to head coach Roger Auker, was "total dedication." Coach Auker and his enlarged staff instituted a summer conditioning program, and starting then and working throughout the season, they attempted to instill in the boys a sense of team pride and a winning attitude. The season record is adequate proof that they succeeded, and in the course of establishing this record, the Bees provided many thrilling moments for their fans.

This sense of "total dedication" also extended to the student body. The '69 season saw Medina's school spirit grow to an all-time high, as the students supported the team verbally and by their attendance at the games.

1969 was a record breaking year for the Battling Bee Cross Country Team. The Bees captured five dual meet victories, finished tenth in the Malone College Sectional, second in the Southwestern conference meet, third in the Akron District, and ninth in the Northeastern Ohio Regional.

Two individuals brought recognition to Medina. John Gulledge again proved that he was one of the top distance runners in Ohio as he was unbeaten in dual meet competition, placed second in the Malone College Invitational, captured first place in the Akron district, second place in the Northeastern Ohio regional, first place in the annual Southwestern Conference Meet, and fifth place in the state individual race.

Joe Hurd, a fine sophomore runner, also brought area and state recognition to Beeland. Joe came on very strong near the end of the season. He finished third in the Southwestern Conference Meet, and twenty-first in the state individual meet.

Basketball Bees Win Two Championships

Mike Cleary starts a drive to the key.

Glenn resorts to soccer to keep the ball away from those Bay players.

The 1969-70 Battling Bee hardwood aggregation opened their season by blasting Brunswick. Two SWC victories were followed by a loss to Bay Village, after which the Bees rebounded to defeat Avon Lake. A loss to county rival Wadsworth was followed by seven straight victories, including wins over Fairview and Brooklyn. The Bees' title hopes were dimmed after another fruitless encounter with Bay's Rockets, but brightened after Fairview downed Bay, creating a threeway tie. Under mounting pressure, the Bees contracted winning fever. They rattled off four final victories, including a 101-56 count over North Olmsted and a 62-49 Valentine's Day victory over Fairview, to share the SWC championship with Bay.

Sectional tournament play saw the Bees avenge the earlier defeat by Wadsworth, down Wooster, and devour the Triway Titans (Purple People) for the championship. The Bees ended the season 18-4 as they were defeated by Massillon in district play.

Medina's wrestling team was faced at the beginning of its 1969-70 season with several changes. New staff personnel, including Mr. Ware as varsity coach and Mr. Houghtaling as JV coach, was one change. The new wrestling program was further enhanced by the purchase of new uniforms for the varsity grapplers and by the innovation of wrestling cheerleaders.

These attempts to upgrade Medina's wrestling program appeared to be effective, as the grapplers turned in consistently good performances and attendance at matches soared. Much of the weight of Medina's dual meet success was carried by SWC tournament champs Doug Simmers, who was 24-0 in dual meets, and Don Todd; but many more wrestlers had winning season records. All these efforts contributed to Medina's second place finish in the Southwestern Conference, a marked improvement over the previous season.

The marching band, though small in number this year, added the "big sound" to football games. In addition to half-time shows consisting of precision marching to popular music, the band also filled the air with strains of the fight song and cheered the team on to victory. One of the favorite fall cheers was "Hey, Look at Our Team" with band accompaniment reminiscent of the Tijuana Brass. A highlight of the marching season was a halftime light show.

Other activities of the marching band included Tag Day, which netted enough money for next year's uniforms, and participation in the formal opening of I-271.

1969 drum major Rob Wilder is flanked by majorettes Eileen Kovacek, Cindy Betz, Sherri Quati, and Claudia McComas.

This year as every year, the Concert Band began rehearsals immediately after marching season to insure another concert season of superb music. The band presented two concerts: the Pops Concert in January and the Winter Concert, including an out-of-town soloist. It also participated in the spring music contests.

Some are going "ooh," some are going "ah." Just exactly what are these choir members trying to sing?

The altos sing together during rehearsal. (Gayle Bixler, we said together!)

Is it Victor Borge with long hair? Is it the organist for the Doors? Is it Liberace minus his candelabra? No, it's choir accompanist Judy Barabas demonstrating her talent at the keyboard.

Mr. Carey energetically exhorts the choir to SING!

Medina's Girl Singers Perform

All eyes are on the director (well, almost) as Girls' Glee Club perfects a number.

Girls' Glee Club, the only all-female music group at MHS, provides an opportunity for all girls to participate in a chorus. The only requirement for membership is the desire to sing, and it is open to girls in all grades. Since it consists only of female voices, Girls' Glee offers more variety in range and material for Medina's singing gals.

Row 1: R. Falconer, C. Monaham, R. Forsythe, K. Eberwein, B. Wadsworth, J. Cutlip, K. Prante, G. Myers, L. Wolfe, E. Hayward, L. Fetty, K. Phillips, and D. Morton. Row 2: J. Ritchie, T. Spears, D. Strings and Winds Combine in Orchestra

Orchestra members "fiddle" away their time.

Under the direction of Mr. Hayburn, Medina's string musicians and some band members combine to form the Medina High Orchestra. Orchestra is open to students in all grades with the ability to play a stringed instrument.

A new group started at Medina this year was the Beeliners, a drill and dance teams. Organized during the summer by Mr. Hedrick and Mrs. Carol Lenk, the group performed with the marching band during football halftime shows and also during some basketball halftimes. These girls worked very hard during practice to work out, memorize, and perfect their routines, and spectators agreed the effect was well worth the effort.

One of the élite clubs at MHS, the Varsity "M" Club, may be joined only by those athletes who have earned a varsity letter in an interscholastic sport. Most lettermen do join this club which has a dual purpose: fellowship and service. Club activities this year included caroling with several girls' clubs at Christmas and sponsorship of several money-raising projects. Proceeds from these projects are spent for a worthwhile cause, often the purchase of new athletic equipment for the school.

Female Athletes Participate in GAA

The Girl's Athletic Association, one of the largest clubs at Medina, provides an opportunity for interested girls to participate in active sports. Intramural sports organized by GAA include volleyball, basketball, and softball, and this year an interscholastic basketball team was also formed.

GAA members also engaged in other projects in 1969-70. One of the biggest was painting the lines on the gridiron and decorating the stadium and goalposts during football season. Some members also volunteered to serve at the Fall Athletic Banquet. Other activities included freshman initiation, pot luck dinners, and play days.

Medina Gymnasts Develop and Demonstrate Skills

Supple Sue Schott performs a walkover.

The gymnastics program at Medina has been enlarged this year, gymnastics being offered for credit as a regularly scheduled class for the first time. Instructed by Miss Lawrence and Mr. Weygandt, the class offers students the opportunity to develop their skills in tumbling and in use of the various gymnastic equipment. The gymnasts compete both intramurally and interscholastically, and present an annual show in the spring.

Medinian Staffers Work for Better Annual

No non-member of the Medinian staff would ever believe the time and effort that are required to produce a yearbook. Making layouts, taking pictures, writing copy: these are just a few of the tasks that must be done. Since not all staffers could be scheduled for the regular yearbook period, some had to work on their own time, but confusion was kept to a minimum. The staff decided at the beginning of the year to produce a better yearbook, and we feel the result has been worth the effort.

STAFF MEMBERS (not in order above): C. Biliczky (Editor), J. Wilder and B. Eaton (Photographers), S. Schuck and P. Wilde (Classes), P. Elliott and N. Been (Clubs), K. Hobart (Academics, Special Events, Music), S. Clay and J. Spacek (Sports), M. Eddy (Copy), C. Davis and D. Mack (Ads, Business Management), and Mr. Insprucker, Advisor.

Staffers Sue Schuck, Kim Hobart, and Melissa Eddy put their heads together to come up with "a better idea."

Our fearless leaders, Editor Carol Biliczky and Advisor Mr. Insprucker, confer over a layout.

Pep Club Promotes Spirit

Pep Club, the largest organization at MHS this year, again made Medina the best-decorated school in the conference. On Fridays, almost every available inch of wall space was festooned with spirit signs painted by Pep Club members.

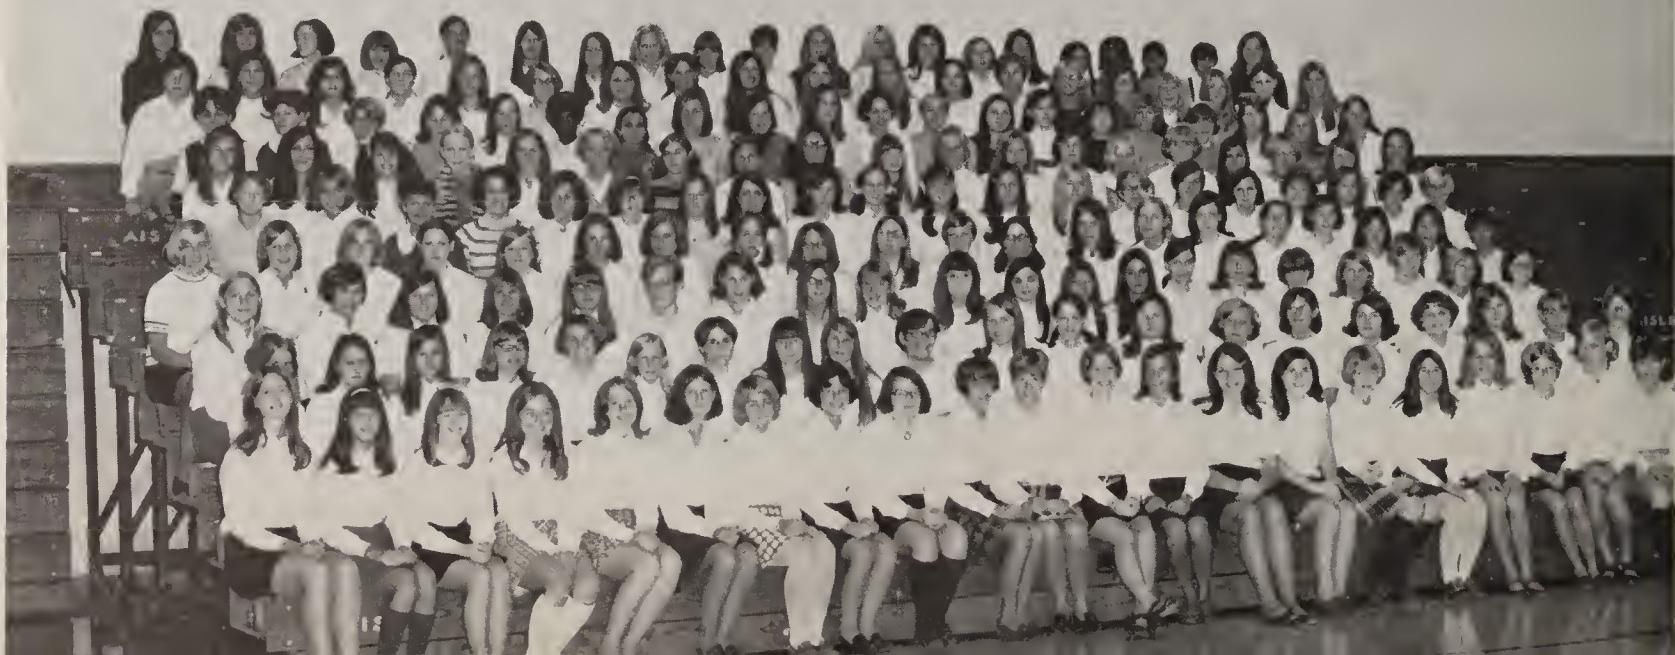

A new pep assembly tradition was initiated this year, The Pep Club and Letterman's Club held cheering competitions at assemblies to promote cheering from the student body.

Pep Club officers J. Nettleton, K. Palker, and S. Goodrich paint a sign for the school.

Gym Leaders Aid Classes

The purpose of Gym Leaders' Club is to help the girls' Phys Ed teacher in frosh and sophomore classes. Membership is open to junior and senior girls taking gym, and it gives them a position of responsibility while they have fun and gain fitness.

This year's Art Club members used their talents in several group projects as well as in individual creations. The club redecorated the art room by painting one of its walls with expressionistic designs. They also demonstrated their abilities to the community by painting the windows of the Red Barn with seasonal murals. Ghosts and witches haunted the building at Halloween, while snowmen and Santa added Christmas cheer to the neighborhood in December. Another group project was the construction of a float for the Homecoming parade.

Rifle Club Competes Nationally

OFFICERS: Top: John Burke and Rob Schmitzer. Bottom: Mark Jameyson and Mike Grieve.

This year the Rifle Club, only in its second year at MHS, took part in national competitions. Each month a team of ten crackshots was selected from the club's membership, and these marksmen participated in monthly government-sponsored matches by shooting at the local target range and sending in the results. In this way the local sharpshooters competed with 700 other high schools nationwide, consistently amassing high scores.

Weekly meetings, including target practice, gave each club member the opportunity to improve his skill and have a chance to be on the team.

GLC Provides Leadership and Service

Girls' Leaders Club, perennially one of the most active clubs at MHS, bridged the generation gap this year through its projects. Each girl became acquainted with one more member of the older generation when the girls "adopted" residents of the County Home, giving them gifts or cards on holidays. On the other side of the gap, GLC entertained young students at the Weymouth Training Center with an Easter play, "The Bunnyland Brigade," with Marcia Sirrine in the lead role. Other GLC girls' activities included selling tickets at athletic events, feeding and otherwise encouraging their basketball brothers, and trying to fool their "secret pals" as long as they could.

Distributive Education, one of the longest-established vocational classes at Medina, is concerned with training students to work in retailing and in related services such as banking. It is another half-day program, with students attending morning classes and working afternoons. DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a class-related club, and sends representatives to various conventions and contests, in which Medina students again placed high in 1969-70.

Work-Study Members Provide Useful Services

Work-Study Club gives eligible students the opportunity to gain work experience while still in school. All participants have morning class; then first-year members have in-school jobs while more experienced workers hold out-of-school jobs.

Students Become Office Workers in COE

The purpose of the Cooperative Office Education program (COE) is to help graduate office workers already adjusted to the business world. Students attend school in the morning and hold office jobs in the afternoon. The teacher coordinates the out-of-school work with the classwork aided by the student's on-the-job supervisor. Twenty students participated in the program this year.

The Medina COE banner proclaims the program's purpose: learning through experience.

Diversified Cooperative Training is the branch of Medina's vocational department dealing with production and technical services. Students enrolled in the program attend classes in the morning and spend the afternoon at work. Jobs range from auto mechanic to x-ray technician. In addition, class members belong to VICA, Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America, and spend time in club activities. A highlight of the year was an observational field trip to NASA in Cleveland.

Girls Learn Business Basics in BOE

Business Office Education, the newest addition to Medina's business department, was well received in its first year. A pre-vocational, in school course, BOE teaches office procedures and manners besides office skills such as typing and shorthand. BOE produces students who are well qualified to continue in senior vocational courses.

FBLA advisors Mr. Phillips and Mr. Hathaway take a break from the sound of pounding typewriters.

Medina's chapter of Future Business Leaders of America had a busy and productive year. Besides holding regular meetings in which members learned new techniques in efficiency and leadership, FBLA sent delegates to several conventions. There they participated in various skill and knowledge contests, and Medina's entrants consistently placed high, attesting to the quality of Medina's business department. Most members of the club are business students.

Future Teachers of America is an organization which combines service and education. The club's monthly meetings often feature speakers or films dealing with teaching techniques or other subjects of interest. In addition, members occasionally serve as substitute teachers in the city's elementary schools, thereby gaining actual classroom experience.

FNA Is Instituted at Medina High

The Medina chapter of Future Nurses of America was founded in Fall 1969 by a group of girls interested in nursing as a vocation. After much organizational work, the club got right into the swing of things with regular meetings, and with service projects. Several of these were connected with Medina Community Hospital. In the club's first year, FNA members found time and opportunity for both active service and further education in their future career.

Above left: Those dull-looking paper bags are being transformed into perky Easter bunnies which will brighten the dinner trays of hospitalized children. FNA members Joyce Biliczky, Sally Richardson, Beth Streett, and Linda Kubal work on the project.

FHA Members Improve Their Homemaking Skills

Future Homemakers of America gives its members a glimpse into a future in home economics, either as professionals or as homemakers. Through group lab sessions, meetings, and club service projects, the girls put into practice some of the skills they will find most necessary when they are on their own.

OWE Is Instituted at Medina

Occupational Work Experience, a new vocational organization at MHS, offers opportunities to qualified students to learn semi-skilled trades. In class, they also learn about money management and other future necessities. Participants this year also formed their own manufacturing corporation and sold articles they made themselves.

Medina Players Captivate Audiences

Drama Club expanded its scope of presentations this year by presenting a variety show in addition to its regular dramatic productions. The variety show, held in March, spotlighted Medina's own upcoming talent, and was a popular success. The Fall and Spring plays were also quality productions and well received. Drama Club adopted a new point system this year whereby points are awarded for time given to the club. Members accumulate points toward their Thespian awards.

Medina's Linguists Sample International Fare

Language Club is dedicated to increasing its members' knowledge of other nations and their cultures. Periodic meetings often include speakers or films. The club also sponsored several other events this year. One was an "Oktoberfest," a fall celebration complete with German foods and activities.

Audio Club Takes to the Airwaves

Standing: J. Brown, P. Deis, D. Coleman, L. King, B. Kilkenny, K. Gardner, T. Saab, J. Smith, M. Sealey, A. Root, N. Been, P. Hoffman, D. Schmid, and Mr. Bosler. Seated: M. Ware, J. Stone, J. Carten, J. Scott, D. Cripps, L. Mutter, P. Moine, and K. Bailey.

Opportunities for fun, service, and experience are offered to participants in Audio Club. In meetings, members learn basic techniques of radio engineering and of making radio presentations, and then put them into practice by presenting the MHS "Noon Show." Individual students take charge of the show for each lunch period. The programs usually consist of current popular music and favorite "oldies," which are piped to the cafeteria and the lobby for the enjoyment of those on their lunch break. Another continuing project under auspices of the Audio Club is the daily "Student Bulletin," MHS's answer to the Huntley-Brinkley report.

Science Enthusiasts Share Interests in Science Club

Medina's aspiring astrologers and budding botanists joined with the maturing meteorologists and emerging entomologists to form one of the school's newest clubs. Science Club held regular meetings which often featured films or speakers. In addition, some members worked on individual and group projects according to their interests.

Skiers Schuss the Slopes

Medina High's Ski Club, in its third year, was very fortunate this season as winter was unusually cold and snowy. The club skied at Brandywine nearly every Wednesday. The highlight of the year was a weekend ski trip to New York.

Y-Teens Club Is Small but Active

Medina's Y-Teen chapter, affiliated with the national YWCA, subscribed to the motto "Quality not quantity" this year. Though the club's membership was small, it was active all year in service, profit-making, and fun projects. Service projects included the annual basketball coatcheck and decorating a Christmas tree for the hospital, while for fun the Y-Teens had slumber and make-up parties. These projects were financed by bake sales and a car wash.

Math Club Enjoys Working With Figures

Math Club, whose members are A.P. math students, gained new life this year as the Class of '70 took over. These people added fun to figures as they made the group into a secret society, complete with official handshake. They also had serious moments as they studied mathematical concepts to supplement those learned in calculus class.

Senior Special Events

Our Queen and Her Court Reign Over Homecoming 1969

Left to right, Bev Kulp, Amy Gunner, Jane Gauthier, and Queen Jane Werner.

In one of the closest games ever, Medina's Bees shut out Westlake to win by a score of 2-0, a close margin of safety. Nonetheless, this was enough to insure a happy Homecoming weekend, which was begun Thursday evening by a bonfire pep rally and climaxed by the Saturday night dance.

The only incident to mar the weekend was the sudden illness of attendant Amy Gunner, which prevented her attendance at the festivities.

Twelve Years of Work and Fun Come to an End as Members of the Class of 1970 Receive Their Diplomas

The successful abolishment of senior exams set the mood for a happy and relieved last week of classes for seniors. Wednesday, May 27, was their final day, and senior "fun week" began with a bang the following day as the class took off to Cedar Point for its annual trip. Everyone returned tired but happy at the end of the day, only to have to get up early the next day for Baccalaureate rehearsal.

Baccalaureate was reinstated this year, but attendance was made optional. It was held on May 31, 1970. Father James Patton was the major speaker, with an address entitled "The Existential Me."

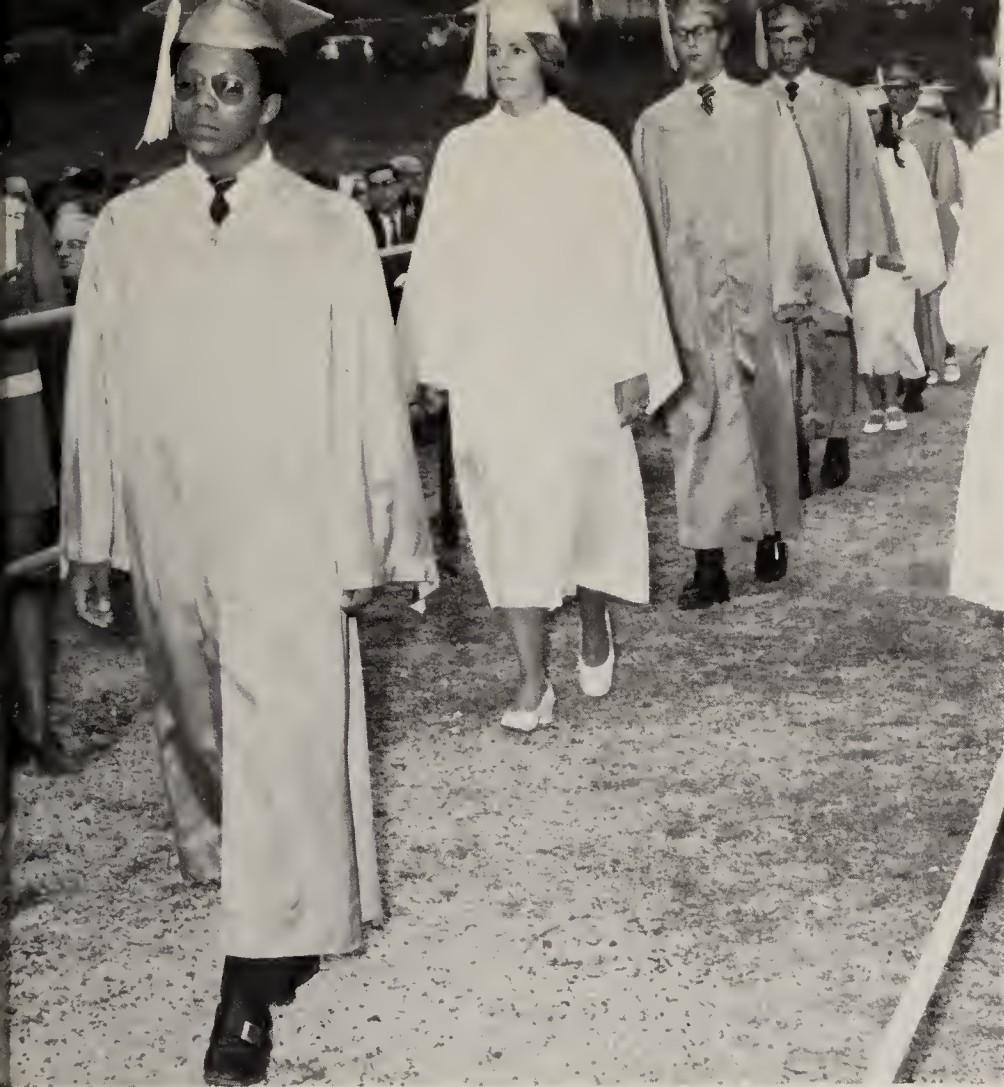

The following week saw seniors cleaning up the stadium on Tuesday, then gathering for Commencement rehearsal and the senior honors assembly on Wednesday.

Right: Disbelief and joy are mingled on the faces of four brand-new MHS graduates. Front, Chris Smith and Sue Schott; background, Sandy Potterton and Jim Krejci.

Commencement was held on Thursday, June 4, 1970. Although rain threatened, it never materialized, and the ceremony was held in the stadium, which was decorated with potted flowers and trees and a canopied speakers' platform. After hearing two student speakers and a choral presentation, the Class of 1970 was presented by Mr. Rios to Mr. Calvin Wible, school board president. Mr. Wible then presented the diplomas, and after singing the Alma Mater, the class recessed to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance." Senior year, and the eleven years of school preceding it, were officially over, and the proud members of the Class of 1970 were now graduates of Medina Senior High School.

Top: The solemn graduates march in procession to the traditional tune of "Pomp and Circumstance."

Center: Senior choir members, in their graduation robes of gray or white, join their green-robed fellow singers for the last time as the choir sings during Commencement.

Above left: Marcia Rieger addresses her classmates on the intriguing topic, "If I Had Wings, No One Would Ask Me Why I Fly."

Above right: Class president Tim Holston presents a few personal revelations as he challenges the Class of 1970 in his speech entitled "The Day is Done."

Opposite top: It's over, and Cindy Schaefer, Mike Hattery, and John Treleaven wait to turn in their robes.
